DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1, 3-10, and 21-30 are allowed over the prior art of record.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the examiner agrees with applicant's arguments/remarks on pages 6-11 because the prior art of record fails to disclose " a first connection to a first antenna, said first antenna operative to receive a first RF signal from a first satellite and to transmit a third RF signal to said first satellite and a second connection to a second antenna, said second antenna operative to receive a second RF signal from a first satellite and to transmit said third RF signal to said second satellite." There is no indication in Luly et al., Langston et al., and/or Krasner that "said first down-converted signal, said second down-converted signal, and said third RF signal are present at said third connection to said signal processor simultaneously;" as substantially described in independent claims 1 & 21. These limitations, in combination with the remaining limitation in claim 1 are not taught nor suggested by the prior art of record.
3. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Luly et al. (US Pub 2002/0140617) teaches a multi-band reflector antenna has a main reflector defining a prime focus and a frequency selective surface (FSS) sub-reflector defining an image focus. One or more transmitter or receiver feeds are provided at each of the prime focus and image focus. In one application as a ground satellite terminal, the antenna supports Ka-band two-way broadband Internet access bundled with multi-satellite Ku-band direct broadcast television service (DBS).

Langston et al. (US Patent 6272351) teaches a wireless communication system (100) is disclosed in which a central office (102) generates a signal. A first base station (104) receives the central office signal and transmits a first broadcast signal in a first frequency range in response to the central office signal. A second base station (124) receives the first broadcast signal and transmits a second broadcast signal in a second frequency range in response to the first broadcast signal. A third base station (134) receives the second broadcast signal and transmits a third broadcast signal in the first frequency range in response to the second broadcast signal. In accordance with the present invention, a plurality of base stations are each able to provide one-way or two-way communication to a plurality of customers (110, 130, 140), with only one base station (104) receiving signals directly from the central office (102).

Krasner (US Patent 5825327) discloses a GPS receiver having multiple GPS antennas. Also described is a method of tracking employing the GPS receiver and a communication transmitter. Also described is a garment having a GPS receiver, a GPS antenna, a communication antenna, and a communication transmitter.
